

Pass Through Value Features Support Selling to School Systems

Some food distributors focus on selling to school systems and other eligible non-profit agencies. When this happens, a food distributor's software must support the special needs of the "Pass Through Value" program as defined by the USDA.

These school systems take advantage of USDA programs which allow them to purchase certain commodity foods at a discount. Typically this requires that the commodities be purchased either from a state-contracted warehouse or directly from the vendor. The USDA also allows discounted commodity foods to be purchased as ingredients in eligible processed food products through an arrangement known as "Pass Through Value" (PTV).

The entrée.PTV add-on module supports a particular PTV method known as "Net Off Invoice" (NOI) where the agency's commodity values are deducted from distributor invoices for eligible products.

Using the K12 Foodservice Website, which is tightly integrated into entrée.PTV, the credits given in this way are reported back to the manufacturer (for Billback/Rebate purposes) as well as to the State and Federal agencies responsible for administering this program.
